

Adam L. Benshoff

Vice President, Regulatory Affairs

---

Adam L. Benshoff is Vice President, Regulatory Affairs for the Edison Electric Institute. Benshoff joined EEI in 2015 and oversees EEI's engagement and strategy on economic regulatory issues before both FERC and state public utility commissions. He also co-leads EEI's cross functional state practice, which focuses on emerging industry policy trends on key topics. Prior to his current role, Benshoff served as Deputy General Counsel, State and Federal Regulatory, where he represented EEI and its member companies in proceedings before state utility commissions and various federal regulatory agencies.

Prior to joining EEI, Benshoff worked for National Grid, and he also spent time in private practice with the law firm of McNeese Wallace and Nurick, where he represented the interests of commercial and industrial end users in electric, natural gas, and water proceedings.

Adam holds dual Bachelors Degrees in English and Speech Communications from The Pennsylvania State University and a Juris Doctorate from the Boston University School of Law.
