

Stephanie Voyda

Vice President, Communications

---

Stephanie Voyda is Vice President of Communications for EEI. Stephanie joined EEI in 1997 and has held various positions of increased responsibility within the communications department, most recently serving as executive director of communications. She directs EEI's communications team, with responsibility for advertising, public policy communications, executive communications, creative strategy and design, Electric Perspectives magazine, earned media, stakeholder and strategic communications, research, social media and digital strategy, and EEI's website.

Before joining EEI's communications department in 1997, Ms. Voyda served as the Legislative and Communications Coordinator for the Professional Aviation Safety Specialists, where she worked for almost six years on aviation-safety related issues.

Ms. Voyda is a graduate of the American University, and lives in Arlington, Virginia.